Personal Explanation

A large number of the citizens of this county, whose fidelity to the Union is as decided and undoubted as that of any one whatever, have pressingly urged me to be a candidate for the Legislature, and after repeated refusals, I have with reluctance consented to comply with their wishes They state that in their belief, the cause of the Union will be more effectually promoted by the action which they propose, than by the support of the ticket nominated on the 7th inst. The result will show whether they are right in their judgment, but that neither the proprietor of the OREGONIAN nor myself may stand wrongly before its patrons it is proper that it should be understood that I have entirely withdrawn from any editorial connection with this paper I am aware that its proprietor regrets the decision made by me, and for his sake, if I could be of any benefit to him, I would have been glad to decline the request made to me I do not, however, feel bound to obey the dictates of a Convention, which ought to be only advisory, when it demands a course of action which seems to me unworthy of support, and as the Convention of this county endeavored to force upon the Union voters, a ticket, which is in part very unsatisfactory to them, it is not surprising that the scheme should be resisted So far as I am concerned, this will be done fairly frankly and with unwavering devotion to the cause of the Union, and the people will decide the issue Doubtless severe complaints will be made by those interested in the success of a plan, which ought to be defeated, and perhaps by some others, who may not have observed that fraud and faction were adroitly at work under the garb of a professedly Union Convention—if so, I trust the sincere patriots of the county will give to them only the consideration which truth and justice warrant, and especially do I ask, if any fault is to be found with this paper on account of my action, that the responsibility may be put upon me, where it belongs and not upon its publisher, who in this matter is as entirely innocent of all wrong, real or imaginary A HOLBROOK

The Union Ticket

It is a source of undisguised regret that any number—however small—of the Union citizens of Multnomah county should be so far dissatisfied with the regular nominees of the Union party as to induce them to present what is termed an "independent Union ticket" Its tendency—putting the most charitable construction upon the movement—is to divide and thus weaken the Union vote, establish a precedent here which may hereafter prove ruinous, by encouraging the opposition element to intrude upon the people, under the guise of Independent Unionism, men who may be in their whole sympathies radical Copperheads and secessionists The Convention of the 7th instant, which was in the usual public form of such organizations under a Republican government should have been the place to avoid errors—if errors were imminent—instead of endeavoring to correct them after the ticket had been decided upon and announced by the party It is scarcely to be expected that the personal ambition and interest of each candidate for nomination could be subserved, or that there would not be dissatisfaction on the part of those who fell short of realizing their fond hopes A refusal to bow to the will of the majority has placed the country in her present perilous position, and cost us countless treasure in blood and money If the majority of the Union party were not represented in selecting the regular ticket, they are at least supposed to have been, and those who were represented are certainly not blameable for the omission of those who suffered an election for delegates to go by default

The Cincinnati Enquirer is endeavoring to satisfy itself with a treasonable course and the logic to which it resorts, summed up, amounts to this

1 The Administration is and has a right to be the war party
2. Two parties cannot exist advocating the same views but the anti Administration will be absorbed by the Administration organization
3 It is of more importance to preserve the Democratic party than to save the country

Therefore, it concludes that it is necessary for Democrats to advocate peace measures

Letter by President Lincoln on Kentucky Affairs—Views on Emancipation

The circumstances which elicited from the President the annexed letter are, as we understand them about as follows The senior editor of the Louisville Commonwealth, Colonel Hodges by invitation accompanied Governor Brandlette and Hon Archie Dixon on our recent visit to Washington and to the Executive Mansion when they had interviews with the President and Secretary of War At the close of the interview between President Lincoln and Governor Brandlette and Senator Dixon, the President incidently remarked on the attentions he received during that he was approached by a number of Kentuckians unkindly toward him in consequence of his supposed early understanding the difficulties by which he was surrounded in his efforts to put down the rebellion and that he would explain to the gentlemen some of those difficulties if they felt inclined to hear him A willingness was at once manifested and the President explained to them the difficulties to which he had alluded

On a subsequent occasion, in conversation with Mr Lincoln Colonel Hodges remarked that he was satisfied that the President was greatly misunderstood by many of the citizens of Kentucky and that he would greatly oblige him if he would write out the remarks made to Governor Brandlette and Senator Dixon in order that with the President's permission they might be published in Louisville Kentuckian that if published the Colonel stated to them, they would remove much of the prejudice which was attempted to be created against the President in Kentucky

The President took the matter into consideration and shortly after his return home the Colonel received the following which he would recommend to his deliberate consideration of the people of Kentucky

EXECUTIVE MANSION,
WASHINGTON D C, April 4 1864

A G Hodges, Esq Frankfort Kentucky—My DEAR SIR You ask me to put in writing the substance of what I verbally said the other day, in your presence to Governor Brandlette and Senator Dixon It was about as follows

I am naturally anti slavery If slavery is not wrong nothing is wrong I cannot remember when I did not so think and feel And yet I have never understood that the Presidency conferred upon me an unrestricted right to act officially upon this judgment and feeling It was in the oath I took that I would to the best of my ability preserve protect and defend the Constitution of the United States I could not take the office without taking the oath Nor was it my view that I might take the oath to get power, and break the oath in using the power I understood, too that, in ordinary civil administration this oath even if broadly construed to practically sanction my primary abstract judgment on the moral question of slavery I had publicly declared this many times and in many ways And I aver that to this day I have done no official act in more deference to my abstract judgment and feeling on slavery

I did understand, however that my oath to preserve the Constitution to the best of my ability imposed upon me the duty of preserving by every indispensable means, that Government—that nation of which that Constitution was the organic law Was it possible to lose the nation, and yet preserve the Constitution?

By a general law, life and limb must be protected yet often a limb must be amputated to save the life but a life is never wisely given to save a limb I felt that measures otherwise unconstitutional, might become lawful, by becoming indispensable to the preservation of the Nation Right or wrong I assumed this ground and now avow it I could not feel that to the best of my ability I had even tried to preserve the Constitution, if to save slavery or any minor matter I should permit the wreck of Government, Country and Constitution all together When early in the war, Gen Fremont attempted military emancipation, I forbade it because I did not then think it an indispensable necessity When a little later, Gen Cameron then Secretary of War, suggested the arming of the blacks, I objected because I did not yet think it an indispensable necessity When, still later Gen Hunter attempted military emancipation, I again forbade it because I did not yet think the indispensable necessity had come

When, in March, and May, and July, 1862 I made earnest and successive appeals to the border States to favor compensated emancipation, I believed the indispensable necessity for military emancipation and arming the blacks would come, unless averted by that measure They declined the proposition, and I was, in my best judgment, driven to the alternative of either surrendering the Union, and with it, the Constitution, or of laying strong hand upon the colored element I chose the latter In choosing it I hoped for greater gain than loss, but of this I was not entirely confident More than a year of trial shows no loss by it, in our foreign relations, none in our home popular sentiment none in our white military force—no loss by it, anywhere or anyhow On the contrary, it shows a gain of quite a hundred and thirty thousand soldiers, seamen and laborers These are palpable facts, about which no facts there can be no cavilling We have the men and we could not have had them without the measure

And now, let every Union man who complains of the measure test himself, by writing down in one line that he is for subduing the rebellion by force of arms, and in the next that he is for taking these men from the Union side and placing them where they would be, but for the measure he condemns If he cannot face his case so stated, it is only because he cannot face the truth

I add a word, which was not in the verbal conversation In telling this tale I attempt no compliment to my own sagacity I claim not to have controlled events, but confess plainly that events have controlled me Now, at the end of three years struggle the nation's condition is not what either party or any man devised or expected God alone can claim it Whether it is ending seems plain If God now wills the removal of a great wrong, impartial history will find therein new causes to attest and revere the justice and the goodness of God

Yours, truly, A LINCOLN

LETTER FROM DR BELLOWS —The following is in reply to an invitation tendered Dr Bellows to visit this State during his short sojourn on the Pacific coast

SAN FRANCISCO, May 20, 1864

MY DEAR MR HOLBROOK —Your cordial and fraternal greeting met me on my arrival here and gave you a new claim on my gratitude Thank you for every word you utter about our dear Lost Lamb who promised to be the blessing link between the culture, liberality and humanity of our old civilization on the Atlantic and of your fresher newer life on the Pacific coast Well! he is gone—but I hope and believe that invisibly his loving, sympathetic heart and spirit find ways to continue their glorious work and that his labors, though cut short, were not really left incomplete "His soul is marching on!"

I am plunged into all I see cares and all my own Whether I am to be permitted to visit Oregon according to my hopes and longings is uncertain I specially desire to go up or down the coast and if I were strong enough should like to make the land journey to Portland But I fear I have not the vigor for it I am very weary with twenty five years of incessant work—always growing on my hands and suddenly expanded these last three years to gigantic proportions But if there be anything I love it is meeting the big honest fresh hearts and souls of the men on our borders and outlying Territories—who give me back something of the freshness of my own youth God bless them!

I don't give up my intention of visiting Oregon and Washington Territory but I hold it subject to grave uncertainties

I don't think my presence at all necessary as a magnet for gold things, I won't beg on the Pacific The people are really spontaneous in their humane and patriotic work They do just as well without as with me But I have a burden of gratitude to lay down in Oregon which I did hope to have the pleasure of depositing at her own feet Your share of it I feel to be very large, whether we meet or not Ever your friend,

H W BELLOWS

SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO THE DAILY OREGONIAN

Dates to May 28.

Particulars of the Crossing of the North Anna.

Spirited Contest for the Bridge and Brilliant and Successful Assault by Gen. Birney.

OUR TROOPS WITHIN A DAY'S FORCED MARCH OF RICHMOND.

Sherman within Sixty Miles of Atlanta

NEW YORK May 26—The Herald's correspondent on the line, from Headquarters Army of the Potomac Morning of 24th inst Burnside is on the Richmond Fredericksburg road Hancock is marching on the left and Warren is crossing the North Anna river Warren's corps is in front of Hancock's Anna river May 24 10 P M The news from Warren and Hancock is better than expectations Both have effected a lodgment on the right bank of the North Anna late this evening after a sharp and severe engagement at each crossing Hancock succeeded in gaining the enemy's rifle pits driving him completely from his advanced ground

WASHINGTON May 26—Dispatches from General Grant received this morning up to 10 P M to the Department state that the rebel army still holds a strong position between the North and South Anna rivers where their forces appear to be concentrated It will probably require two or three days to develop their intentions The 9th corps has been incorporated with the Army of the Potomac No other dispatches have been received from any field of operations

SIMON

NEW YORK May 27—The Herald's special gives the following account of the struggle for Taylor's bridge over the North Anna When my last despatch was written a considerable force of the enemy was disputing our passage of the North Anna Gen McLaws division of Longstreet's corps was found in strong earthworks between Long Creek and the river and was disposed to hold Taylor's bridge at all hazards They poured into our line a perfect storm of shot and shell from their batteries when General Birney with his division advanced Col's Perce and Eagan with the 1st and 2d brigades made an assault at six o'clock on the evening of the 24th on the enemy's works The riflemen of the enemy poured a deadly fire into their ranks while they charged on the batteries on high ground a little to the left of the bridge Our artillery opened a heavy fire at the same time tearing up the rebel works with their whizzing missiles The rebels were carried at the point of the bayonet A considerable number of rebels were killed in the intrenchments and 110 were captured This assault which was made under the immediate direction of Gen Birney is considered a very brilliant affair Gen Hancock wrote him a very congratulatory letter

The 3d and 5th Michigan, 12th New York, 99th Pennsylvania, and the 17th Maine suffered more severely than any other regiments in the division

The rebels, when driven from the rifle holes and rifle pits, retreated across the river, many being drowned the bridge being overcrowded to admit crossing with as much facility as was desired Two assault on Taylor's bridge, spanning the North Anna, was made without the loss of time by the 4th Maine The bridge was carried after sharp skirmish, and the rebels were driven from their position on the opposite bank

At 4 o'clock P M, the enemy made a sortie from their works and endeavored to retake the bridge but after a spirited skirmish of 20 minutes were driven back

At midnight they made another attack with a larger force and drove our men from the bridge and held it for some time They made several attempts to burn it The 7th New York heavy artillery coming up, the rebels were forced to retreat The fire was extinguished and we occupied the bridge without further trouble at 7 o'clock on Monday morning

On the 24th, Birney crossed the North Anna at the bridge with his division Soon after the balance of the corps followed

NEW YORK, May 27 —The Herald's correspondent says our losses on the 23d and 24th, do not exceed 5000 killed, wounded and missing, while the loss of the enemy will amount to that number killed

The World's special dispatch dated this morning, the 25th, says that the entire army is on the south bank of North Anna.

The Champion, from Aspinwall the 17th, with $30,000 has arrived

The special dispatch to the Herald says that an affray occurred on the 25th at the National Hotel between Senator Chandler of Michigan, and Voorhees of Indiana in which the latter slapped the former's face Hannegan, the friend of Voorhees, interfered, and was in turn assaulted by Chandler Hannegan struck Chandler with a pitcher, dragged him to the door by the hair, and pulled his ears until the affair was stopped by the bystanders The fight originated because Chandler denounced the Democrats in such a manner that Voorhees construed his remarks as personal to himself

NEW YORK May 26 —We learn from Folly Island that on the 19th, an important expedition executed by the 103d Kentucky volunteers, was highly successful. The troops landed on James Island from the boats at Secessionville creek, advanced through the marsh and took the rebel pickets by surprise

Those men report that news was published in the Charleston papers of the 12th, that Meade's army had been thrown back by Lee, but Meade had received reinforcements and made a stand on the south side of the Rapphannock They represented the force of the enemy to be over six regiments of infantry This does not include the troops on Johns Island and in the vicinity of Adams river

NEW YORK May 27 —A Havana correspondent says information has been received from St Domingo, which states a counter revolution broke out in the provinces among the insurgents

The Spanish flag was hoisted in many places

A number of insurgent leaders were shot by their own men

CHICAGO, May 27 —A Chattanooga dispatch, dated 21st, says Sherman's headquarters were at Kingston last night, 22 miles from Dalton and 62 from Atlanta Our advance is 10 miles south of Kingston

There has been no severe fighting since the affair at Resaca, but continual skirmishing Many prisoners have been taken by us Many deserters are coming in, who represent Johnston's army so far disorganized as to render resistance improbable short of Atlanta Johnston is reported to have between 50 000 and 70 000 men inclusive of 10 000 Georgia militia at Atlanta, engaged on fortifications Johnston's army is composed of the same material and behaves quite poorly

Schofield is reported to have suffered very much, numbers being wounded and are now in Chattanooga

CHICAGO, May 27 —A Nashville correspondent states Sherman's entire army resumed the march from Kingston on the 24th and flanked Johnston's strongest position at Altoona, on Etowah river His position in the mountains is considered stronger than that at Atlanta This correspondent believes Johnston does not intend to fight, but that his troops are being gradually transferred to Lee and Beauregard

CAIRO, May 27th —Gen Banks, with a portion of his army arrived at New Orleans on the 21st It is not known that any new movement is on foot at present In moving across the country in his retreat from Alexandria Banks left Red River at Fort De Russy, and struck out for Simmesport where he crossed the Atchafalaya, and thence marched to Morgan's

A J Smith's command also marched to Semmesport where they embarked on transports

Naval officers who left Pensacola on the 18th say that a report had been received there of another mutiny in the garrison of Fort Morgan, but no particulars came to hand.

The New Orleans Delta of the 21st says By an arrival last night we have reports that a heavy battle has taken place at San Luis between the French and Mexicans under Negrete, and that the former were totally defeated The news however is not considered entirely reliable

PHILADELPHIA, May 27th —The Inquirer publishes a dispatch dated south side North Anna, near Joyce bridge May 25th 2 P M which says that the rebels are in our front and that prisoners had been taken during the last 24 hours from thirteen of the rebel corps under Hill Ewell and Longstreet Over 400 prisoners were taken from the brigade of South Carolina reserves under Crawford who led the charge on our extreme right

Gen Warren had crossed the Niama on the road leading to Beaver Dam Our troops there completed the construction of nearly six miles of track on the Virginia Central Railroad west of Sexton's Junction

We are but one day's forced march from Richmond in a fine open country

CHICAGO May 28 —The Missouri State Convention (Radical) at Jefferson City has decided to send delegates to the Baltimore Convention

NEW YORK May 28 —The war correspondent of the Richmond Examiner tells why Lieut Spottswood's Court House reconnoissance and an assault was made The Union works are deserted and when their occupants were driven from them, it was discovered that the enemy were rapidly moving their whole army over the right flank and had been since daybreak in force in our front being only a handful, who had been left to keep up appearances As soon as this reconnoissance was ordered, everything and everybody was on the move with us

The Tribune's special dispatch from Hanover Junction, 25th 10 o'clock P M says there has been no general engagement to-day Our advance is beyond and in possession of the south bank of North Anna river and is regarded by the presence of the enemy Skirmishing is continued throughout the entire day There was hardly an infantry musketry which artillery was not engaged

Hancock had thrown the entire corps across the river near the railroad and our advance was ten miles and half an advance of the river, along Bull Marsh Creek

The ninth army corps commenced to cross late in the day and as soon as all were over preparations were made for an assault on the enemy's works Fourth's evening a tremendous storm of thunder lightning and rain came on which caused a postponement of the attack This morning the sky is clear and the weather warm

Warren holds post on along the Gordonsville road on the right We have several lines of the enemy's works which they seemed to have taken from us without any very obstinate resistance Their present position however is very strong It is impossible to tell with out reconnoissance in force or to tell how strong the enemy is but it is generally believed that by pressing us they will fall back towards Richmond

The enemy burned a large trestle bridge across the North Anna yesterday

Grant's feeding trains are near Jericho Mills on the south side of the river

Sheridan and his cavalry have been heard from and they are making a reliable report themselves They have been circling around Richmond destroying a vast amount of property and rendering the Danville Railroad useless for some distance The enemy's cavalry are entirely unable to offer opposition

Later dispatches say that our right has not yet been able to communicate with our right but is south of the river The enemy are now reported to be confronting us in force

The Tribune's correspondent writing from Grant's head quarters 10 o'clock A M, says

At the time that Birney's division carried the rebel rifle pits at North Anna bridge, our right, under Warren, advanced, cutting the Virginia Central Railroad and establishing himself in position at Noel's Station The rebel lines form two sides of a triangle, its apex being opposite Oxford, where Burnside crossed on the night of the 24th From its apex the rebel line extends in a northwesterly direction crossing and securing the junction The left wing extends in a southwesterly direction cutting the Central Railroad and following it north westward

Hancock is in front of the enemy's right wing with our left and extends his line parallel with that of the enemy across the Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad

Burnside's line is opposite the apex of the enemy's works, and facing southwards The enemy's works in front of Hancock can only be carried with great loss.

The Richmond Examiner contends that it is Grant that is on the retreat and Lee pursuing It says that Lee has followed Grant from Wilderness He is now the last to move, and is the pursuer not the pursued

It is true that by these movement both armies have been brought nearer Richmond, but the action of Lee rendered it necessary

The Times special from Grant's headquarters at noon of the 25th says that this morning the lines were advanced, pushing three miles south of North Anna river and across the Virginia Central Railroad which has been effectually destroyed. No engagement has occurred The main body of the rebels appear to have drawn back to the South Anna which is the line they have been long preparing and which they mean to defend to the last Their advance lines rests along Long creek, 10 miles south of North Anna.

THE SMALL POX QUESTION —Our citizens are very justly indignant at the reports of falsehoods of an up-country paper, which malignant and unscrupulous items, daily set forth make Portland out to be a very dangerous place to visit at present, in consequence of a dire contagion We have denied the statement fully, on separate occasions, and should pay no more attention to it, but as we have been solicited to publish the following certificates, which we hope will be sufficient to refute the falsehoods—

Portland, May 28, 1864. H. McKINNELL, M. D.

Up to the present time we have been entirely free from the small-pox in our city. Not a single case has come to our knowledge. All reports to the contrary are unfounded. A. HURGREN,
Chairman of Committee on Health and Police.
Portland, May 28th, 1864.

In the same connection we understand the Common Council will be memorialized, to take some action preventing convalescent small-pox patients from the Dalles coming within our city, until they have fully regained their health and strength.

BEATING A RETREAT.—The individual who was spouting treason so loud on the corner of Front and Stark streets, on Saturday, again made his appearance at the same place last evening, fortified with a bundle of the London Index, a treasonable quarto published for the purpose of creating sympathy for the southern rebellion, among Englishmen. King Alcohol had upset the advocate of King Cotton however, and he occupied quite a large space of the sidewalk, impeding the passage of pedestrians. The boys, thinking it would not do for a rebel to obstruct the sidewalks in a loyal city, procured a couple of bunches of firecrackers, and placed them under the seat of secesia, which caused him to beat a hasty retreat. We did not learn his name, but understand he hails from Yamhill. He is needed at Cape Disappointment, to pack sand bags.

STABBING AFFRAY.—Another row occurred between sucashes on Saturday evening, at the corner of Taylor and Second streets, during which fracas one of them was severely cut in the abdomen. Dr. Chapman was called to attend the case, and succeeded in replacing the protruding bowels. The Indian who did the stabbing was arrested and lodged in the city jail to await examination before the Recorder this morning. The cause of the affray was bad whisky, and as Indians are lately very numerous in our streets drunk, it would be well to trace out the source from whence their flow of "fire water" is obtained, and break up the rallus dens.

COLLISION.—The steamer Senator run into the steamer Rescue, at Clackamas rapids on Monday, while on the way to Oregon City. The point where the collision occurred is several miles from the main channel, and at any other stage of water would have been impassable, and the accident was the result of the latter vessel shearing across the bow of the Senator, leaving no alternative but to run over or collide. Capt. Kellogg stopped his boat, but not soon enough to prevent taking a few "buckets" from the wheel of the Rescue.

ELIGIBLE.—As the Union candidates were en route to the places of speaking last Saturday, a couple of little boys ran across the road ahead of a buggy containing Messrs. Wasserman and Wakefield, which frightened the horse, and dashing against a stump upset the vehicle, breaking it, and precipitated the occupants. Mr. Wakefield was very badly bruised about the face, but Mr. Wasserman escaped unharmed. On the return two more ... broke down when driving on the ferry boat.

DEPARTURE OF THE GEORGE S. WRIGHT.—The steamer George S. Wright, S. F. Lewis commander, left this port at 2 o'clock yesterday morning for Victoria, carrying 2,880 sacks of flour; 80 sacks of oats; 36 sacks of wheat; 75 gunnies of bacon; 19 packages of ...; 17 kegs of butter; 11 sacks of feed; 11 boxes of apples; 19 baskets of cherries, and 2 of strawberries; 3 bbls of pitch, and 100 head of sheep and hogs.

TELEGRAPH WIRE.—It will be important to those of the Sound to know that the steamer Express carried the first instalment of telegraph wire to Pumphrey's Landing, on her last trip. The work is being pushed vigorously forward by the projectors, and soon the electric flashes will cross the Columbia, and cause our neighbors with us and the world at large.

FOR A SEA VOYAGE.—The steamer Leviathan has been fitted for a sea voyage, with a temporary mast, to be used in case of accident to her machinery, and the removal of her hurricane deck, and will leave for New Westminster to-day, in charge of a capable navigator, who has been engaged to take her to Victoria, on the way to her new place of business.

A NEW ROAD.—Mr. C. W. Burrage, County Surveyor, has been engaged in locating a new road leading west from this city, that will be a county road and take the place of what is known as the old Mountain road, which is impracticable at certain seasons of the year. The new survey starts from Mr. King's and terminates near Mr. Barnes' place.

STRAWBERRIES.—S. K. Barlow, of Canemah, has our thanks for a box of elegant strawberries. They were large and luscious, and Mr. B. can rest assured the donation was received with all the honors, and swallowed with peculiar gusto.

THE HARVEST QUEEN has arrived from San Francisco, and will be used as packet between Portland and Astoria. She was anchored in the river opposite this city on Saturday, and was much admired. To-day she will load at Vaughn's wharf, for Astoria.

RISING AGAIN.—The water in Willamette river was again rising on Saturday, although it was but little.

OAK POINT LUMBER.—A large scow loaded with lumber from Oak Point, arrived at Abernathy's wharf in this city on Saturday.

L. H. WAKEFIELD, Esq.—In consequence of the accident on Saturday, by which this gentleman was severely bruised, he will be unable to attend personally to his appointments for a day or two. He will take the stump at the earliest possible moment, and in the meantime will be represented by either Mr. Mitchell or Mr. Dolph.

HEAVY TALK.—Quite a boisterous conversation took place on Front street Saturday, in which some pretty severe language was made use of. Lonkilitemus was around, but nothing tragic occurred to relieve the monotony of his theme, and he again reverted to the steamers.

PUBLIC SPEAKING TO DAY. — The regular nominees of the Union party will address the citizens of Willamette Precinct at Love's place at 1 P. M., to-day.

SAILING OF THE ALMATIA.—The bark Almatia, Capt. Richardson, will leave this morning for Oak Point, where she will load with lumber and sail for San Francisco.

THE steamer Cowlitz brought a full load of freight, hay, etc., from the Cowlitz river, on Saturday evening, which was transferred to a ferry boat, at Kopitt's wharf.

PORTLAND, May 28th, 1864.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:
Sir—In this morning's paper I noticed my name as candidate for County Surveyor on a "People's Independent Union Ticket." I would state that it so appeared without my knowledge. Having accepted the nomination at the Regular Union County Convention, I would respectfully decline being a candidate on any independent ticket.
Truly yours, CHAS. W. BURRAGE.

PORTLAND, May 28, 1864.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:
This morning's issue uses my name as an independent Union candidate. As I was a candidate and nominated by the Regular Union Convention, I desire to state that my name is used without my knowledge or consent by the Independents. Respectfully yours, H. W. CORBETT.

PORTLAND, 2[illegible] May, 1864.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:
Dear Sir: In your issue of this morning I see that my name is put upon the Independent Ticket for County School Superintendent. I wish to say that it has been done without my consent or knowledge.
In these times of national peril I desire to stand connected with the regular, the United unconditional Union ticket.
Yours respectfully, G. H. ATKINSON.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:
Sir:—In view of the fact that statements have been made touching my loyalty, I am induced to make the following statement: I am and ever have been in favor of the vigorous prosecution of the war for the suppression of the rebellion and the perpetuity of the Union.
Respectfully yours, O. RISLEY.

Catarrhal Cough.—This insidious and annoying symptom, so difficult to treat, depends upon a subacute inflammation of the air passages, which is apt to end in chronic ulceration and a form of consumption. The mucous membrane of the air passages is peculiarly susceptible to the healing influences of the PERUVIAN SYRUP, as the testimonials of some of our first citizens show.

THAT COSTLY BAG OF FLOUR —The particulars attending the sale of a certain bag of flour, as given by the Reese River Reveille of the 21st, are so interesting and amusing that we transfer them to our columns, in the belief that the reader will derive as much pleasure from their perusal as we did

Two of our men says that paper Mr R Gridley, of the firm of Gridley Hobart & Jacobs, as gallant a Copperhead as ever lived, and Dr Herrick, one of our county officials, make a very amusing wager, the terms were that should D E Buel, Democrat, be elected Mayor, Dr Herrick should carry a fifty pound sack of flour through Main street, from the 1st Ward, Clifton, to the 4th Ward, upper Austin, a distance of a little over one mile and a quarter, marching to the tune of Dixie The reverse was Should Charles Holbrook Union be elected, Mr Gridley would carry the flour from his store in Austin down Main street to the 1st Ward, marching to the tune of Old John Brown

A procession was formed, escorted by a band of music, and proceeded to Clifton, down the Austin Canyon, where the scene described below was enacted

A stand was erected, upon which the now distinguished sack of flour was placed After a few preliminary remarks, Mr R C Gridley offered for it two hundred dollars, the money to be given to the Sanitary Fund Mr T B Wade took the stand as an auctioneer, and the price of flour went up to such prices as it had never before reached, even in starving times, or that the most successful speculator ever dreamed of getting Double eagles in solid gold were the only currency that could buy flour at that auction stand From two hundred the price soon ran up to three hundred and fifty, and declared sold. It was said a Union man had bid the amount, but as he was not very prompt in coming forward, Mr Gridley offered the money, and desired the much coveted flour Mr J M Noyes, as a prominent Union man and a successful candidate for Alderman, claimed the right to pay the money, and handed out a bagful of twenties, amidst the deafening cheers of the assemblage, the flour was delivered to him, and immediately returned for sale, the proceeds to go, as before, to the noblest of purposes, the Soldiers' Sanitary Fund The auction still went on, and the precious flour sold again and again, until it had sold for many times its weight in silver Mr Buel, although defeated as a candidate, and a heavy loser in wagers has determined not to be outdone, but as his gold had run short, offered a certificate of indebtedness of the United States Indian Department, which would be paid in greenbacks, calling for $1,115 This was the most liberal of all bids, but as gold is the only article recognized as money, it was not accepted. All bidders were cheered, and the price fell as low as twenty dollars Gridley, for Gridley, Jacobs & Co, again bid two hundred dollars, and was a purchaser Greedy and anxious now became the seekers of this valuable flour, the auctioneer became eloquent in its praise, and as though the sufferings of the soldiers' wife were most feelingly depicted, the cheers and unbridled hilarity of the audience evinced how there was no feeling of sadness amongst them ers When the twenties in the pockets of individuals ran short, combinations were made the Democrats must buy, the Republicans must buy, the Odd Fellows bought, then the Masons must excel there was no thought of party, of rival societies, or of individual enmities, but to excel in their contributions to the Sanitary Fund

Thus the sale went on, with the many combinations to raise large amounts—the merchants attempting to surpass the hotel keepers, the miners the saloons mining companies, town property and determined not to be outdone, what with money, scrip, stock, town lots, it appeared as if the whole property of Austin was about to be swallowed up in the maelstrom of the Sanitary Fund At a late hour in the evening having continued since twelve o'clock the sale was adjourned until to day, when it will be again started at one hundred dollars, there being several standing bids at that sum At the time of adjournment, the amount of cash bids in the aggregate was $4,020, with several bids from F F Buel of one block of lots in the town of Watertown and a large number of lots bid by Jeff Work The amount of gold paid in as the bids were made, was $1,150 stocks, certificates of indebtedness, and such other valuable property worth many thousands of dollars were also offered, but as they were not readily convertible into cash, were not accepted

At the last account the highest bid on the flour was $4,400

A MILITARY YARN —A friend of ours, who has seen some service, and to whom we are indebted for several original stories of a similar nature which came under his observation, furnishes us the following anecdote, the truth of which the narrator particular he vouches for

One day while my regiment was on duty at Columbus, Kentucky, I received orders from my Colonel to proceed to Memphis with two companies of the regiment, in charge of some rebel prisoners We embarked about 10 A M, on board the C. Hillman, and immediately sailed down the river Our boat had a large number of passengers on board, among whom was Judge L , with whom I was well acquainted, and who, by the way, was a strong Union man. He asked if I had any objection to his conversing with the Rebs I told him 'Not in the least,' when he went forward, and selecting a rough, uncouth, lank haired private from Arkansas, the following colloquy ensued, which fairly illustrates the intelligence of our deluded Southern brethren'

Judge—'What regiment do you belong to?'

Reb—'The 29th Arkansas, by G—!'

Judge—'You have been in some battles?'

Reb—'Well, I reckon.'

Judge—'My friend, what are you fighting for?'

Reb—'We're fightin' for our rights'

Judge—'Well, what are your rights, or of what rights have you been deprived?'

Reb—'I tell you we are fightin' for our rights.'

Judge—'That's all very well, but define them'

Reb—'Oh, I aint no politician, and I haint got no education to speak on, but I know we are fightin' for our rights, sartin'

Judge—'Well, my friend I can tell you what you are fighting for You are fighting to destroy the best Government and noblest nation the world ever saw Look at that glorious banner, (pointing to the stars and stripes floating from the gaff) are you not ashamed, sir to fire on that beautiful flag?'

Reb—'Flag? I never saw that flag till I went and joined the army'

Judge—'What!—you never saw the Stars and Stripes?'

Reb—'No, I never did.'

Judge—'How old are you?'

Reb—'Bout thirty five I reckon'

Judge, (in a tone of stupendous astonishment)—'And you never saw the Stars and Stripes before?'

Reb—'No, I told you once already'

It was a poser for the Judge He was completely floored With mingled feelings of indignation, pity and dismay, he paced the deck some time in silence. At last stepping directly in front of his incorrigible acquaintance, in a subdued, serious tone of voice, he asked. 'Did you know, my friend, that Christ was dead?'

Reb (evidently surprised)—'You don't say! Is he though? What regiment did he belong to, and what was he killed?'—Western Rail road Gazette

THE WORK OF AN AMERICAN SENATOR —To have read a hundred newspapers every morning before breakfast to be compelled to wade through reports pamphlets and returns innumerable, to glance through a score of leading articles, containing perhaps as many columns of personal abuse of the most virulent kind, directed against oneself, to meditate over the oration of the coming morning, afternoon, or evening session, and to correct the proof of one's last speech for republication in a separate form—these are among the lightest labors of an American Senator Admit that he contrives to swallow a hasty breakfast Then—happy is he if they do not rush upon him while he is chipping his first egg, and light over his tea and toast—sets in the tide of suitors They all want something Moliere's Frobeux were nothing to them If there are no more places to give, they clamor for promises of the reversions of appointments that may not be vacant for two years and a half Widowed mothers of soldiers, long since slain in battle or stricken down in the hospital of disease, come to him with vain entreaties for the dead to be restored to life He is a Senator, he is powerful; he has the ear of the Ministry cannot he give them a word of comfort?—cannot he shed upon them a ray hope that Jack or Ike still lives? Alas! Jack lies still and stark in a bloody trench at Chattanooga and secesh guerillas are careering about in his boots and pantaloons; and the Sanitary Commission have done all that was possible to make Ike's last hours in the hospital comfortable Widows come to the Senator unfortunate for news about lost husbands—to know if they have acted quite correctly in marrying again. Captains who want Colonels commissions, colonels who are anxious to be turned into brigadier generals pester the Senator with requisitions for promotion Will he spur Mr. Stanton on? Will he move the President? Drunken or dishonest subalterns, who have been "mustered out"—viz. expelled from the army for misconduct—are sure that if the Senator will only whisper a word in their behalf at the War Department, their cases will be reconsidered, and the sentence pronounced upon them reversed Then arrive the multitude who hunger and thirst after contracts. Shoddy comes down like an armed man, or a hundred of bricks, upon the Senator Government must have more beef, blankets, biscuit, saddles, bridles, ambulances, gunpowder, and chloroform for medical stores There is a contractor mad upon commissary whisky. There is one wishful to supply five hundred balloons, gas and all, under cost price Listen to the speculator who has ten thousand pairs of boots already for Government consumption. Incline your ear to him whose talk is of myriads of great-coats And the projectors!—the people who will undertake to banish the war and crush the rebellion in a fortnight, the patentees of rifled cannon warranted to kill 5,000 souls at every discharge, of catamarans and infernal machines and torpedoes that shall blow up Charleston before you can say Jack Robinson, of steamboats that shall eclipse Gilmore's Greek fire, and smother a whole corps d'armee at the first puff! And the poets who insist on reading lengthy scrolls full of Alexandrines, bearing on liberty, the Constitution, Bunker Hill, the Senator, and themselves! And the photographers, the portrait painters, who urge the Senator to sit' And the bookmakers, eternally demanding the particulars of the Senator's early life, with a view to forthcoming biographies! And the newspaper correspondents, both native and foreign—but I had best be silent on that score And finally, after the pure idolers, loungers, bores, private friends, and brother Senators—the women. The dear, goodhearted, impulsive, indefatigable, irrational women, bless their hearts! shrilly political, passionately patriotic, dramatically dictatorial, not to be wearied, not to be daunted, not to be put down. The Senator must needs defer to them, for they are indomitable, and would beard even the President in his private bureau —From G. A. Sala's American Correspondence.

It is well known that the protoxide of iron or rust of iron is lost by even a very brief exposure to air, and that to maintain a solution or Protoxide of Iron without further oxidation has been deemed impossible

IODINE WATER.

IODINE WATER IS THE MOST IMPORTANT DISCovery of modern chemistry, and it is unjust to the ever distinguished inventor to call it a rival agent Iodine has been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica and many of the most scientific and practical chemists and physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system It is to act upon the

HEART,
LIVER, KIDNEYS,
DIGESTIVE ORGANS AND GLANDULAR SYSTEM,

and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation it remained almost useless until Dr Henry Ashton, a physician and chemist of New York, after years of patient labor and experiment discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve

PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER

without a solvent This consideration impossible by the scientific world is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr J R Chilton of this city and Prof Booth, U S Mint, Philadelphia The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the faculty that it was published in the Medical Journals and recommended to practitioners (see "American Medical Monthly" for Feb, 1860, page 76)

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of scrofula in all its manifold forms, Consumption, Cancer Humor, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Rheumatism, Neuralgia Nervous Affections, Dyspepsia Bronchitis, etc

AS A TONIC

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the body is the result of the employment of Iodine Patient rears flesh strength and color, hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble he becomes full strong and florid
